

The FCC should not implement any rule which would lessen the effectiveness of any state law protecting it's citizens privacy.
Indiana law has worked well and has served to reduce unwanted advertising calls to my home and should not be replaced by a less effective FCC rule.